01. 'ARCHIMEDE' CABINET

by Alessandro La Spada,
for Visionnaire

With its fluted, curved doors and polished finish, this slender column would not look out of place in a cocktail bar. Yet the wall-mounted cabinet was designed primarily for use in the bathroom: its stainless steel base swivels to let you store toiletries on its glass shelves, while the lacquered surfaces are available in a choice of opaque colours, including Champagne and Siena. Named after the Greek scientist from Sicily (then part of Greece), this design certainly is a bright Eureka! discovery. From €17,000, visionnaire-home.com

02. 'DUO' CABINET

by Roberto Lazzeroni,
for Poltrona Frau and Ceccotti Collezioni

Available in either a tall or low version, this elegant bar cabinet is part of Roberto Lazzeroni's extensive 'Duo' furniture collection. It features a wonderful mix of carefully chosen materials, including solid ash wood for the frame, a choice of natural walnut or ebony finish and a maple interior for the storage unit, shaded bronze for the metal handles, and marble, back-painted glass or ash veneer for the inside of the drawers. If that's not enough, you can also order leather cladding for the inside of the drawers. From £13,106, poltronafrau.com, ceccotticollezioni.it

03. 'COLUMNNAE' CABINET

by Filippo Carandini,
for Nilufar Gallery

Milan-based designer Filippo Carandini is known for his bold furniture featuring vibrant colour blocks and tactile materials. Among his latest creations is a series of cabinets 'designed to interact and merge with its surroundings through reflections and space fragmentation'. All pieces feature hand-painted chequerboard fronts, metal details and bright red interiors. One of our favourites is this 2m-tall version featuring blocks of pastel colours with contrasting red and black. Price on request, nilufar.com

04. 'OTO' CONSOLE

by Studio OE,
for Mattiazzi

A Berlin-based outfit founded by Anne-Sophie Oberkrome and Lisa Ertel, Studio OE was tasked by Mattiazzi creative director Konstantin Grcic to design 'furniture that can be used in the periphery of chairs'. The result, titled 'Oto', comprises a bench, side table and two consoles in okoumé wood, which can also be used as room dividers or seating. 'It's like a mobile extension of architecture,' explain the young designers. 'Like a railing, they nestle along furniture and walls and complement them with additional shelving and seating space.' €728, mattiazzi.eu

05. 'OLLIE' SHELVING

by Yabu Pushelberg,
for Glas Italia

Leading global studio Yabu Pushelberg has famously designed stunning interiors for the likes of W Hotels and Aman Resorts. On a smaller scale, but still as impactful, is its series of translucent pieces for glass furniture specialist Glas Italia. The latest in the collection is a totem-like freestanding bookcase with graphic shelves, in 10mm-thin extra-clear crystal glass, supported by a double-sided mirror panel, which creates a game of reflections and conveys an illusion of depth and continuity. 'Ollie' is available in two sizes, while the bases are removable. £3,240, glasitalia.com
